

Ben is doing his weekly grocery shopping when he notices the sandwiches at the deli.

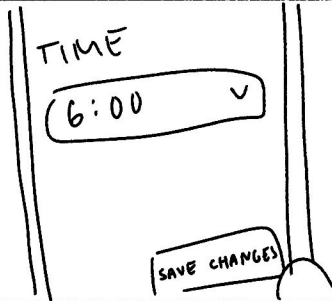

He is reminded that he has lunch plans at the same time of a volunteering plan he signed up for.

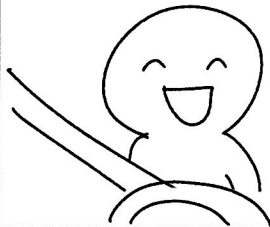

He checks out and rushes to his car before he forgets to edit his availability.

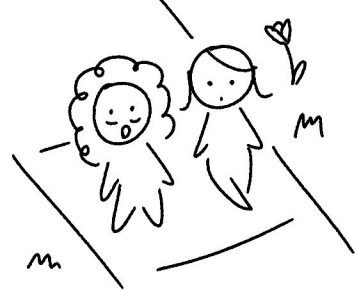

Ben checks his list of events and clicks "EDIT" on the one that he wants to edit.

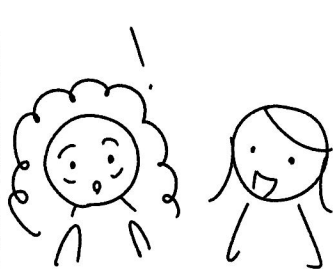

He changes the time to the evening of and saves his changes.

Ben is now relieved he can go to both events that day!

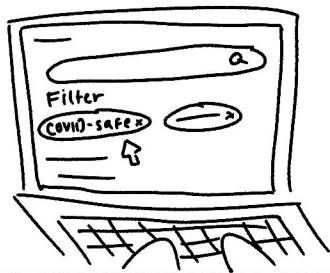

On a morning walk with her daughter, Linda mentions how she misses volunteering but is worried about covid-19.

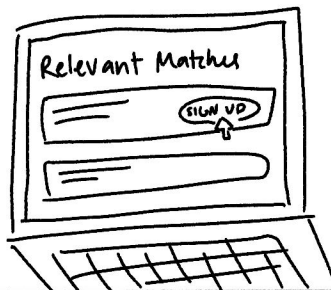

Her daughter recalls a volunteer search website with a filter feature that could help her mom find an event.

They go home from their walk and Claire finds the site.

Linda applies filters that match her volunteering desires.

A list of relevant opportunities shows up and she signs up for the one she is most interested in.

Linda is happy she can start volunteering again safely!
